[which question] what do confidently-correct samples look like?

