[which question] where does the model look when it is wrong?

